On the Change of Winter Entrance Examination Procedure

For the winter entrance examination for the Department of Creative Informatics this year, document screening, examinations for regular education subjects (programming), foreign languages and specialized subjects and an oral examination will be conducted. The examinations for regular education subjects (programming) and specialized subjects will be conducted in the on-site examination venue. The oral examination will be conducted online through a web conferencing system (Zoom). For the application, please carefully read the documents below.

(1) Document screening
   Document screening will be conducted based on the submitted documents.

(2) Regular education subjects (programming)  Morning 4\(^{th}\) (Thu) Feb
   The examinees must bring their own laptop PCs and write programs for the given topics.

(3) Foreign languages
   TOEFL scores will be used to evaluate the student’s English skills. No written English examination will be administered. Applicants are strongly urged to take the TOEFL test at the earliest possible date.

(4) Specialized subjects  Afternoon 3\(^{rd}\) (Wed) Feb
   Problems will be selected from fields related to software/algorithms, computer hardware, and information systems, among other fields. Students will be required to answer three questions.

(5) Oral examination  5\(^{th}\) (Fri) Feb
   An online examination will be conducted for the oral examination. To take the examination, examinees are required in advance to prepare an internet connection and a PC (or possibly a smartphone) with both a microphone and a video camera. In the oral examination, students will be required to answer questions on topics including the contents of the written examination, current research themes, and research themes they want to undertake in graduate school.

If you cannot come to the on-site examination venue, for example because you live outside Japan, we may allow you to take online replacement examinations for the regular education subjects (programming) and the specialized subjects through a web conferencing system (Zoom). Submit the application form attached below along with the other application materials when you apply for the replacement examinations. The notification of the permission will be sent along with examination admission cards. You are required to have a smartphone (or tablet PC) and a tripod in addition to the device required for the oral examination to take the replacement examinations.
Application Form of the Replacement Examinations for Regular Education Subjects (programming) and Specialized Subjects

If you cannot come to the examination venue, for example, because you live outside Japan, and thus you want to apply for the replacement examinations, submit this application form along with the other application materials. The notification of the permission will be sent along with examination admission cards. For the "Zoom account" section, put a Zoom account you plan to use at the replacement examinations. Create an account if you do not have a Zoom account. If you cannot create an account, give an explanation.
