* Students admitted after April 2016 are required to obtain credits of ethic-related course to complete Master's or Doctoral program. However, students who have already obtained credits of ethic-related course while enrolled in undergraduate program or Master's program of the University of Tokyo are considered to have met this requirement. Applicable students must submit "Application for Exemption for IST Ethics (or Research Ethics)" immediately after the announcement from their department office.

"Ethic-related courses" are as follows:

1. Ethic-related courses offered by the Faculty of Engineering or the Faculty of Science of the University of Tokyo.
2. Ethic-related courses offered by the Graduate School of IST ("Information Science and Technology ethics" offered as common curriculum or "Research ethics" offered by the department of Computer Science).

Master's students are recommended to take an e-learning course on Research Ethics Education in addition to the ethics-related courses ("Information Science and Technology Ethics" or "Research Ethics") that are the core courses. Doctoral students must take an e-learning course on Research Ethics Education.

* Computer Science Master's students, except for those graduated/completed from the Dept of Information Science, School of Science of the University of Tokyo, are required to register "Academic Writing in English".

8. Elective Courses

Courses outside the Core Courses required by the student's department, courses from other departments, the other graduate schools, Common Courses, the faculties, or other universities are considered "Elective Courses".

After students return from studying abroad at a graduate school of a foreign university, they must submit an "Application of Official Recognition" and other required documents such as a transcript, class schedule, etc. to apply for the official recognition of the courses from the Graduate School of the University of Tokyo. It is important to confirm the required documents before students go abroad, as it may be difficult to obtain these documents after returning from study abroad.

* Computer Science Master's students can include up to two credits of language courses from other faculties or other graduate schools for completion on the course under permission of their supervisor. However, those Doctoral students cannot include credits of language courses for completion on the course.

* Information and Communication Engineering students can include up to two credits of Japanese language courses as elective curriculum for completion on the course.

* Mechano-Informatics students cannot include credits of Japanese language courses as elective curriculum in the required credits for completion on the program.

9. Re-registration of the Same Courses

Courses with the same course code cannot be retaken if the credit has already been obtained, regardless of the changes in the academic year, the professor in charge, or the number of class credits.

10. Overlapping Courses and Joint Courses

Although the courses are named differently, students can register for only one course in the following categories.

- 1) Overlapping Courses : Two different courses, but with the same contents
- 2) Joint Courses : Two different courses held by multiple departments of either in the same graduate school or in the different graduate schools, but with the same time schedule and classroom.

Once the credit is obtained, students cannot register for the same courses even if they are offered in different academic years.

11. Verification of Grades for IST courses

Students who have any doubts about their grade evaluation can inquire to the professor in charge of the class about the assessment.

If the grade evaluation is considered clearly incorrect due to reasons such as a professor's mistake, etc., students can appeal to the Office of Graduate School of IST.

If students wish to request an appeal, as a general rule, they must submit a Grade Verification Request Form along with their specific reasons directly to the Academic Affairs Group no later than one week after grades are released. Further details will be announced on the IST portal site and other places.

12. Certificate of Teacher's License

(2) Elective Courses and Credits

a. If students have enrolled and obtained credits of Common Courses and courses offered by other departments, other graduate schools, or faculties under the permission of the supervising professor, within the limit of the above (1) Required Credits to Complete the Program, the credits may be counted as elective course credits to complete the program. (Article 6 and Article 7, The University of Tokyo Rules for the Graduate School of Information Science and Technology)

b. If students obtain more than the required credits to complete the Master's program, the excess credits can be added to the Doctoral program credits for up to 10 credits in total through the permission of the supervising professor (Article 7, Paragraph 2, The University of Tokyo Rules for the Graduate School of Information Science and Technology).

In addition, students, who completed the Master's program in either the Graduate School of Engineering or the Graduate School of Science before the Graduate School of IST was established, and who enrolled in or proceeded to the Graduate School of IST, can add the excess credits earned in the Master's program to the credits in the Doctoral program only in the following cases:

1) After completing the Master's program in the Graduate School of Engineering, proceed to the Doctoral program in the Department of Mathematical Informatics, Department of Information Physics and Computing, Department of Information and Communication Engineering, or Department of Mechano-Informatics.

2) After completing the Master's program in the Graduate School of Science, proceed to the Doctoral program in the Department of Computer Science.

* The main purpose of the rules is to provide interim measures for the students who proceed to the Graduate School of Science and Technology from former departments that used to belong to the School of Engineering or School of Science. Therefore, students from other Graduate Schools are not covered by this regulation. For that reason, students from the Graduate School of Science that proceed to a department in 1), and students from the Graduate School of Engineering that proceeds to the Department of Computer Science cannot transfer credits from the previous graduate school.

* The credits which can be transferred are limited to the subjects offered under the Graduate School of IST.

* Students can transfer only the credits of the elective courses of IST obtained during the enrollment period of the Master's program of IST. (Credits of core courses and credits obtained at other Graduate Schools cannot be transferred.)

* Students can transfer only the necessary number of credits to make up the 20 credits for completion, up to a maximum of 10 credits.

* Credits from one course cannot be divided for credit approval.

* For this procedure, students must get permission from the supervising professor by the beginning of the final academic year of the Doctoral program, and must submit the "Request for Credit Transition" to the Office of the Graduate School of IST during specified period listed below:

Completion (Leaving) Date	Submission Period for Request for Credit Transition
Diploma Presentation Ceremony : September 20, 2024 Withdrawal from School : September 30, 2024	June 24 (Mon), 2024 - July 5 (Fri), 2024
Diploma Presentation Ceremony : TBD Withdrawal from School : March 31, 2025	January 7 (Tue), 2025 - January 17 (Fri), 2025

* For students who enrolled before AY2009, please refer to "Information on Registration School Credits and Other Procedures" of each enrollment academic year.

c. Credits obtained by auditing a course (lecture only) of the graduate school of a Japanese university that has a student exchange agreement with the Graduate School of IST and certified by the Graduate School of such university will be given equivalent credit in the Graduate School of IST for up to 15 credits in total through the Master's program and the Doctoral program (Article 10, the UT Rules on Graduate Schools).

d. When students study abroad at a graduate school of a foreign university and obtain credits from courses in the student's major field of study, the credits will be authorized as equivalent credits of the Graduate School of IST for up to 15 credits in total through the Master's and Doctoral programs, only after the students submit an application (Article 28, the UT Rules on Graduate Schools).

In addition, the number of credits may not exceed 15 credits, together with the number of credits deemed to have been acquired at the Graduate School of the University of Tokyo above article c. .

* Due to the course load, there is no guarantee that the number of the credits authorized by the graduate schools of a foreign university will be converted to the same number of credits in the Graduate School of IST (Memorandum of Graduate School Council Meeting).

* Regarding "Study abroad", please refer to the following " (1) Study Abroad at III. Student Status"

* When students study abroad and obtain credits at the graduate school of a foreign university during a leave of absence, the credits cannot be certified as credits of the Graduate School of IST.

4. Master's / Doctoral Thesis Screening and Defense

Each department has its own rules regarding the submission of the Master's thesis, the deadline for submission, and the date of the thesis defense – check the announcement from the department for the latest information.

The deadline of the Doctoral thesis is in the beginning of June for students who plan to complete in September, and the beginning of December for students who plan to complete in March. Each department requires different documents, and the date of the thesis defense is also different, so students who plan to complete the Doctoral program must pay attention to the announcement from the department.

In addition, students on a leave of absence cannot submit a thesis for the Master's program or Doctoral program. A leave of absence while the thesis is examined is not acceptable.

(Reference) Students who were in the Graduate School of IST for at least three years, who obtained at least the required number of credits, and who left school after receiving the necessary research guidance from the supervising professor (referred to "withdrawal through expiration in the Doctoral program") can submit the Doctoral thesis to the Graduate School of IST, if it is within three years after leaving the school. In this case, this person is considered as completing the program.

If students who have been more than three years after withdrawing from the Doctoral program with satisfaction of credit and enrollment requirements, students who have withdrawn from school without satisfaction of credit and enrollment requirements, or students have not completed the Doctoral program wish to apply for the Doctoral degree, they must submit a doctoral dissertation (five set including the original and copies) along with the required documents such as Application for Conferral of Doctorate, etc. and the thesis screening fee to the President (Students Affairs Group, Education and Student Support Department) (Article 4, Rules for the Graduate School of IST)

* The Fee for Screening the Thesis
